1920 Chautauqua Will Be Talk Subject Now

A. L. Morse, special advance representative of the Tenthon Chautauqua, was in town yesterday for the purpose of conferring with the contractors for the 1920 Crow's Nest Pass Chautauqua, and organization for this season's fest. A well-attended meeting was held at the Comopolitan hotel in evening, when officials were elected as follows: Chairman, Allan Hamilton; Secretary, L. D. H. Treasurer, F. M. Tinkler; Ticket Agent, A. J. Kelly; Chairman of advertising committee, W. L. Evans. Every one appeared to be enthusiastic over this year's Chautauqua and look forward to real success. The programme to be presented this year is the best ever, and one that will appeal to all classes, especially to all interested in the age of reconstruction and development. Music, lecture and entertainment feature apparently have much in store for them during the week of August 19th to 26th, inclusive. A lecture event of cardinal interest, scheduled in the coming of John Skellyhill the noted Anzac soldier-poet. He was acclaimed by Theodore Roosevelt as the greatest speaker the war produced and he has been winning new laurels of late with his powerful reconstruction lecture, "Rebuilding the World."

Other lecturers of prominence are: Dr. George Adams, a descendant of the famous Gladstone family and head of the Munitions Board in the Lloyd George's cabinet; Barnell Ford, prominent inventor and electrical scientist who brings a lecture-entertainment of real education of value and intense interest on the marvels of electricity illustrated by his own apparatus; Hon. C. H. Pook, member of the New Zealand parliament and one of the most brilliant men of the Antipodes; Capt. Norman Allan Imrie, formerly staff lecturer with the Canadian Army and now speaking on British-American relations, and M. L. Mullinger, who throws a new light on the Mexican situation.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the entire week is the production of "16 Days to Adversity" on the fourth night by the Keadley New York Players. This company success has had sensational runs in all our cities and because of its wholesome atmosphere is an ideal Chautauque play.

The music of the week promises much to the music lovers of this community. On the opening day, the Crow's Nest Chautauque presents two concert. This company features both vocally and instrumentally the delightful music of the olden days. Four charming and versatile young ladies constitute the company. On the second day comes the Ward Waters Trio in two programs of music and entertainment. Ward Waters is an impersonator widely known on the Chautauque platform and he has the able support of two real artists, Donna Foley and Fernie Lewis-Waters.

On the third day a musical event of red-letter importance is scheduled in the appearance of the Zedler Symphonic Quintet. This company, under the direction of Nicola Zedler, Swedish cellist, is rated as one of the best symphonic orchestras on the concert platform. Helen Paton, and Salvador Sala, Spanish violinist, are artists of rare ability.

The fifth day brings a musical event which will particularly appeal to lovers of the violin. Ferdinand Eillon, noted French violinist, appears on this day in two recitals, assisted by Gabrielle Claus, dramatic soprano, and Frances Bell, pianist. The closing day witnesses the coming of the Pisk Jubilee Singers. The famous colored organization from Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, is rated as the greatest negro singing quintet in the country.

Season tickets are now on sale—Adults $8.00, students $1.50, children $1.00. You will save money by buying season tickets, which will admit to all events. Single admissions for the week would total about $9.00 for adults or $4.00 for children. The 1920 Chautauqua will be held each morning, the afternoon concert at 2:30, and the evening programmes will begin at 8 o'clock.

For the benefit of out-of-town patrons, we may remind them of the conveniences afforded by train service. Coleman people could come in on the noon local for the afternoon session and return on the 4:40 local. Those from eastern points could arrive by the 4:40 and return home on the 10:40 train, or come in on the morning train and return at night.

Tuesday afternoon will be a clear or rest time, when it is hoped to pull off some kind of a sports tournament.

The C. P. R. have to dig about five hundred carloads of farm soil from their right-of-way between Kipp and Birch. This soil blew in from farms of that district, and contains feeding that under fair conditions should have produced millions of simoleons.

Body of Murdered Man Found in Railway Culvert

Evidence of the most brutal murder in the history of this district was discovered by a C. P. R. surveyor at a point just east of Burnis station on Monday morning last, when the remains of a man, clad only in thin underwear, were found in a small culvert. A report was immediately made to the provincial police at Coleman and Bellevue, who soon arrived on the scene. The man was found to be of about twenty-five years of age and about five feet seven inches in height. His throat was cut from ear to ear and his head and body battered and stabbed so that identity would be almost impossible. There was every evidence that the man had met his end through foul play on the part of more than one person. His wrists and ankles bore rope marks, showing that in their effort to do away with their victim the murderers had bound him hand and foot. Scarcely any blood marks were found on him, but a short distance away, to which point could be traced the tracks of an auto, was found a pool of blood, and it is believed by the police that the man, after being thrown from the car and still bound with ropes, was lacerated across the neck and held securely face down until completely bled.

The body was removed to Bellevue where it was examined by doctors, who pronounced death as occurring on or about Friday last and evidently due to foul play.

Efforts to identify the remains have so far proved futile, but it is believed that he was one of a band of in-horn gamblers who have been frequenting the Crow's Nest Pass.

A detective force, under the direction of Inspector Risk, of Lethbridge, is busy on the case and although suspicion has rested with several individuals, it is evident that the guilty parties are very much at large.

Comment on Current Events

The last week of June and the first few days of July were prolific in important changes in the political life of Canada, and in some respects these were but indicative of the unsettled state of politics generally throughout this and other countries. Union Government, which was brought into being through the efforts of Sir Robert Borden as a war administration late in 1917, having fulfilled its destiny, has passed away; Sir Robert Borden has laid down the responsibilities of the premiership, and these have been placed on the younger shoulders of Hon. Arthur Meighen, who is not only the youngest premier Canada ever had, but also the first man from west of the Great Lakes to achieve that high office. His Government will be representative of the new political organization which supercedes the Conservative and Unionist parties in Federal politics and which has been named the National Liberal and Conservative Party. In addition to Sir Robert Borden, Hon. N. W. Rowell and Hon. Martin Burrell retire from the Government; consequently the first test of the strength of the new administration with the public will come with the election of the new ministers to be chosen.

A second change of moment was the resignation of Sir Lomer Gouin from the premiership of Quebec, an office he has held for the past fifteen years, and a longer period than any of his predecessors. Sir Lomer's retirement does not mean any marked change in the Quebec Government. He is leaving political life to engage in the activities of business, commerce and finance, and is succeeded in the premiership of Quebec by one of his former cabinet colleagues, Mr. Taschereau.

Even more significant of prevailing public opinion in Canada today was the result of the Manitoba Provincial elections which has created in the oldest of the prairie provinces a situation somewhat similar to that existing in Ontario. Of the four largest groups in the next legislature, —Liberal, Farmer, Conservative and Labor—no one commands a clear majority in the house. Followers of the Norris Government constitute the largest single group, with Labor second, Farmers third and Conservatives fourth, with few Independents in addition. The Norris Government will carry on with the support of certain of the Farmer and Independent members, while Labor will probably constitute the official opposition party.

The Manitoba elections were also noteworthy by reason of the fact that for the first time in Canada the system of Proportional Representation was applied in a Parliamentary election, the city of Winnipeg electing its ten representatives by that method. All parties seem agreed that it was a marked success and gave general satisfaction. With ten members to be elected out of a list of 41 candidates cast, the new system was given the hardest test yet applied to it in any English-speaking country, and the successful outcome would seem to point to its early adoption throughout Canada.

As indicating that there has been little change in the war-time sentiment of people on the question of New Brunswick referendum is of interest. Two questions were submitted to the electorate: (1) Whether the prohibition laws should be retained, importation stopped, and a bone-dry condition created, or (2) whether the sale of wines and beer should be permitted. By a vote of three to two the people declared against the sale of wines and liquor, and by a two-to-one vote emphatically recorded their preference for absolute prohibition of the traffic in intoxicants for beverage purposes.

While the people of Canada have thus been engaged in their own political affairs, in the United States the Republican and Democratic parties have adopted their platforms for the presidential elections of next November and named their candidates. A clear issue on the Peace Treaty and League of Nations is now presented to the American people, and the voters will themselves decide the issue, the Republicans bitterly condemning the treaty and the Democrats upholding the League of Nations as necessary for the future preservation of the peace of the world. While not concerned in the essentially domestic policies of the United States, Canada will follow with keen interest the struggle for and against acceptance by the United States of a place in the League of Nations and as a co-partner with the other civilized peoples of the world in maintaining the highest international ideals.

The Oldest Living Thing

Huge Cypress Tree Said To Be 5,000 Years Old

A huge cypress tree in a churchyard near Santa Maria del Tule, in Southern Mexico, according to scientists, is the oldest living thing in the world, being between 5,000 and 6,000 years old.

This age is based on the gigantic bole of the tree and the slow growth of the species. The figures mean that when the seed from which the tree sprang fell upon the first King Menes was holding the first reign in Egypt. Scientists who have an historic knowledge, 3,000 years before the birth of Christ.

Humboldt discovered the tree more than 100 years ago. He nailed to the tree a wooden tablet containing his photograph and, although it is now gone, the photograph is still legible.

Overcrowding the Earth

Estimated That In 170 Years From Now Maximum Population Will Be Reached

According to the statistics, the population of the world cannot go on indefinitely at the present rate. It has been estimated that if it does, then we are near the end of our tether. In about 170 years from now the maximum population that the earth can support will be reached. The only country at the present time that is reasonably living within its assets of land is France, for to double her population requires 433 years. If the present rate of increase of the population of the world is maintained (supposing that it is possible), then in 2,000 years from now the population would be twenty-five times greater than it is now.

Saw Possibilities In Experiment

Liverpool Dockmaster Evolved Principle of Modern Lighthouses

Sometimes during the latter part of the eighteenth century a scientific person of London made a wager that he would read a newspaper by the light of a "faring dip" at a distance of 30 feet. To do this the scientist merely coated the inside of a shallow box with sloping pieces of looking glass so as to form a concave lens, put his farthing dip into the box and readily-declined the small print at the stipulated distance. The experiment was witnessed by a Liverpool dockmaster. He was a thinking man and saw great possibilities in this learned feat. He straightway adapted the principle to lighthouses' requirements and forthwith the modern reflected light with its mile of range and greatly multiplied life-saving powers sprang into being.

Don't Hawk, Blow, Sneeze, or Cough Use "Catarrhoxone"

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and cough when later on they infect the bronchial tubes—how can you follow them with a cough syrup? You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—all the way they fail.

But Catarrhoxone gets everywhere—gets right after the germs—kills them—breaks the torments of inflammation—makes Catarrh disappear. Not difficult for Catarrhoxone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Large size costs $1.00 and contains two months' treatment; smaller sizes 25c and 50c, all drug-gists and storekeepers.

Pulp Mill for Port Arthur

Provincial Paper Mills Will Spend a Million and a Half on Undertaking

Port Arthur will be the scene of important developments in paper manufacture when the plans are completed of the Provincial Paper Mills, Limited, Toronto, who have just been incorporated. About $1,500,000 is estimated to be required to be spent in Port Arthur. The plant, which occupies 140 acres in the city of Port Arthur, has turned out about $2,000,000 of sulphite, which has been sold in the United States, chiefly in Wisconsin and Minnesota. It is now intended to complete the product line to paper on this side, with a mill to turn out forty tons a day. With the expenditure of $500,000 on the mill, absorbed by the new company, these productions will be increased.

Indian Trophies for Museum

Considered the Highest Examples of Cree Art in Existence

Chief Piapot's saddle cloth and a Cree woman's saddle have been lodged with the provincial museum at Regina, by William Leach, of Moose Jaw, an old-timer in this province who brought the C.P.R. steel into Regina in 1882.

These trophies are considered the highest examples of Cree art in existence, and it required two years of negotiation before Mr. Leach was able to secure possession of them. For the past couple of years they have been on display in San Francisco and will likely be exhibited at the provincial summer fair.

The saddle cloth is woven in beads in leaf form and is seen with burnt sinners. The work is highly artistic, and both pieces are worth a considerable sum of money.

Be a Self-Starter

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action on the stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are harmful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear all worms from the system.

Enormous Debt Of the Nations

Has Expanded Since Countries Reached High State of Civilization

The combined national debt of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany, according to recent estimates by the Bankers Trust Company, of New York, approximates the vast sum of $178,000,000,000. Germany leads the list with a debt of $50,000,000,000. The others follow in this order: France $46,000,000,000, Great Britain $39,000,000,000, United States $25,000,000,000, and Italy $18,000,000,000. National debt is built up chiefly by warfare, yet paradoxically, as these countries have reached a higher state of civilization, their national debt has expanded enormously. A study of "English Public Finance," issued by the Bankers Trust Company, traces the origin of national debt. It shows that prior to 1688 the national debt of England was unknown in England and probably elsewhere.

To Use the Red River

May Come Into Prominence as Transportation Route

Efforts are to be renewed to bring back to the Red River of Manitoba something of the importance it held in the pioneer days as the main artery of commerce of the west. Fifty years ago the Red River was the first link in the chain connecting the Manitoba settlers with the outside world. Immigrants poured into the country from the east and south by the southern portion of the stream, while to the north, boats laden with the richest furs floated down the river on their way to Hudson Bay and thence to England. With the coming of the railways the Red lost its place in the transportation world. Today its tawny water floats only a fleet of pleasure boats and an odd scow bringing sand, gravel, or wood from the northland. Soaring freight rates, however, have revived interest in the Red River as an artery of commerce and the Winnipeg and St. Boniface harbor commission is planning extensive dredging and the erection of large docks at Winnipeg and St. Boniface. The discovery of gold and copper along Lake Winnipeg, the high prices now prevailing for wood and lumber, and the interest in the pulpwood fields of Northern Manitoba, are all combining to bring the Red River again into prominence as a transportation route.

One Great Essential To a Woman's Health Is Her Nerves

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day of their birth. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung? The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, humming and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes a burden?

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health. Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N.S., writes: "I was a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes, when I felt like a different person, am never without them in the house and I can recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Price 50c a box at all dealers who carry a line of drugs. Write to The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

An Unvalued Site

(London Daily Chronicle) The news that the Bank of England is to be rebuilt draws attention to a fact which has often puzzled business men, and that is that the site on which the present buildings stand has never been valued, though it is undoubtedly the most costly in the world. What is more, the value of the site has never been ascertained and the buildings as an asset, though if these were in the possession of any other company they would probably be included as worth anything up to $20,000,000. But the bank's position is so secure that it can afford to neglect even such a great asset.

The Japanese government controls the supply of crude camphor.

To Further Lignite Project

Additional Grant of $200,000 Made to Saskatchewan Briquetting Plant

To meet the increased cost of construction of the lignite briquetting plant an additional appropriation of $200,000 has been made. This makes the total vote for the plant $600,000. Of the additional vote, $100,000 is being provided by the federal government, the governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba dividing the other $100,000 between them. This is the same ratio as the original vote. The lignite utilization board has found it impossible to complete the project on the original grant of $400,000. A recent estimate shows the total cost will be about $600,000, exclusive of housing. In order to compare these prices with the original estimate of $400,000, the board made a careful enquiry into the price of the present contemplated plant. And it was erected in 1917, the date at which the original research council report was prepared. The result was a total estimate of $390,000, which shows that the present designs are no more elaborate than were contemplated originally.

The Hon. Arthur Meighen agreed that the federal government would contribute another $100,000 on condition that Manitoba and Saskatchewan would each contribute a further $50,000. The Meighen has been taken up by Mr. McQuesten with the two provincial governments and so far as Saskatchewan is concerned, the additional appropriation will be met.

Growers Form Wool Pool

Michigan Farmers' Syndicate Will Market Fleeces for Best Prices

Through the Michigan Farm Bureau a goodly number of the farmers of Michigan have formed a wool pool, which amounts now to 2,500,000 pounds and will shortly become a stack of 4,000,000 pounds. By means of this pool the farmers hope to get a price for their wool keeping with the prices of wool cloth and similar commodities. It is their opinion, by the best advice the bureau can secure that shortly the price will go up from about 22 cents to at least twice that amount and yield to the farmers keeping with their anticipations when the shearing season came on.

The big stock of wool belongs now to some 10,000 individual farmers, and that number will increase to about 15,000 taken into the pool by the bureau from about 170 local assembling points where the wool is stored, sacked and shipped in car lots to Lansing.

When a farmer turns his wool into the bureau he can secure an advance of 75 percent of its value at the current market price. The farmers, however, this year do not seem to be in serious need of immediate funds for very few have asked for this advance.

Farmers in other states are forming similar pools although no one of them is anywhere as extensive as this one. In New York state, for instance, the growers have small pools in 37 different counties.

Canada Free to Trade With Russia Says Foster

Ottawa.—The situation in regard to trading between Canada and Russia was clarified in a statement made by Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce. Sir George declared that there was no embargo on Canadian exports to Russia and that it was open to any Russian to make legal purchases from Canadians. Further, any Russian individual or corporate company is at liberty to set up his place of business in exactly the same manner as the citizens of any other country.

Sir George's statement was as follows: "With reference to various rumors which have been afloat and the statements purporting to have been made by various parties as to trade between Russians and Canadians, it may be stated:

"1. No recognition has been asked or is called of the Soviet or any other Russian government.

"2. Russian correspondence from the United States and elsewhere have been informed that there is no embargo in Canada against exports destined for any part of Russia, and that it is open to any Russian to make legal purchases from Canadians on such terms and conditions as they will mutually agree upon and that no restriction will be placed upon either the making of the contract or the carrying out of the same by export or otherwise which is not at the same time applicable to transactions between Canadians and people of other countries and that the Canadian government is not in any way supporting by advance credits or otherwise any transactions between Russians and Canadians, nor is it the intention of the Canadian government to make any credit in relation to these matters.

"Any Russian individual or corporate company is at liberty to set up his place of business in exactly the same manner as the citizens of any other friendly country. No recognition has been made of the Soviet or any other Russian government by the minister of trade and commerce or by the government of Canada."

Other resolutions adopted include a request for participation in the civil service bonuses, and a demand that special consideration be given by the post office to postal officials at customs ports and to officials on night shifts transferring mails from trains.

Affiliation of the association with the railway postal clerks, city postal clerks and letter carriers' associations was recommended. All of the officers were re-elected.

Relic of the Lusitania

A Silent Remembrance of Work of the Hun

Philadelphia.—A lifejacket, a silent remembrance of the Lusitania five years ago, and bearing a strand of faded blonde hair, was picked up yesterday in the Delaware river. The name of the ship torpedoed still remained clear and distinct on the wave-buster canvas, which had been adrift on the sea throughout three years of war and two of peace.

The lifejacket, which was found by two railroad detectives, was covered with slime and seaweed with one arm strap broken.

Want Board Reappointed

Canadian Council of Agriculture Decides to Take No Further Action in Political Organization.

Winnipeg.—The Canadian council of agriculture concluded the business of its annual meeting by deciding, after long discussion, to take no further action towards political organization than that provided for last January by which organization is to be carried out on a provincial plan.

The principal subject discussed was whether there should be a central co-ordinating committee to take charge of a political platform.

A formal resolution was passed requesting the federal government to immediately reappoint the existing Canadian wheat board for the purpose of marketing the wheat crop of 1920.

J. R. Howard, president of the American Farmers' Bureau, addressed the council on the subject of the co-operative marketing program of this organization. He said they aimed to eliminate the brokers. He invited the council to send representatives to a conference to be held in Chicago, on July 23 and 24, the object of which, he said, was to make the mid-west states a power on the Chicago board of wheat marketing. An application has been received from the United Farmers of Nova Scotia for membership in the council. The council is composed of representatives of the farming organizations of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Allies Must be United

Millerand Says That Accord is the Thing that Will Conquer the Spa, Belgium.

Paris, Belgium.—Premier Millerand, in an interview with correspondents, declared that the financial conference will be held July 23, as scheduled. Speaking with deliberation, he said that the allied governments had maintained that unity which "is more important than the German attitude." He went on: "If the allies are in accord, Germany will do what we want. If they are not in accord we cannot make Germany respect the treaty. My impression is that the Germans have a pretty good idea that we have a definite plan, and hope to follow it."

Sinn Fein and Unionists Stage Battle Near Belfast.

Belfast.—About 2,000 Sinn Fein and Unionists had a fight in Lurgan over the capture of a man who is alleged to have participated in a recent raid on a mansion near Lurgan. Many persons were wounded in the fighting. A party of troops from Belfast arrived in the town and removed the man from Lurgan. The trouble had its origin in a demand by the Sinn Fein for the release of the man which the Unionists opposed.

MAY PROHIBIT COAL EXPORT FROM CANADA

STATES WILL BE EXCEPTED

Conservation of Fuel Supply in View of the Almost Certain Shortage-Next Winter.

Ottawa.—It is understood that as the first step towards conservation of the fuel supply, in view of an almost certain shortage next winter, the railway board will, in the near future, issue an order prohibiting the export of Canadian coal, excepting to the United States and Newfoundland.

It is also understood that the order will prohibit the bunkering of ocean going vessels at Montreal with American coal. This practice, it is stated, has resulted in the serious depletion of stocks of American coal brought to Canada. After the issuance of the order, it will be necessary for vessels to bunker with coal which is the product of Canadian mines.

At a conference of the members of the railway board, the coal situation was given preliminary consideration and it is anticipated that measures other than these will be evoked to conserve the fuel supply. Seen after the conference, Chairman Carvell said he had nothing further to announce at present.

By-Elections Coming.

Ottawa.—There is still no announcement as to when the necessary two by-elections in the maritime provinces will be held, but the forms necessary under the new franchise act are being got into shape for whenever the contests do take place. It is expected to take some time yet before everything is in readiness for taking the vote in any of the ridings open.

MIXED FARMING IS ADVOCATED BY HON. TOLMIE

MIXED STANDARD PAYS BEST

Agriculture Minister Has Great Faith in the Future of the West.

Saskatoon.—"It is the duty of the Dominion and provincial department of agriculture to aid the development of mixed farming in all parts of Canada," was a statement made by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, when officially opening the Saskatoon exhibition. "It behooves us to develop our farming on the mixed standard rather than that of any particular line. Great Britain is an example of what can be done by a nation when it determines to develop its agricultural interests in more than one single way."

The minister then referred to the growth in stock breeding with the British Isles, and showed that Great Britain had done for the people. "Our government takes a great interest in the development of agricultural exhibitions, believing that they render an equal benefit to rural and urban districts alike, and they not only stir the ambitions of the farmer and create competition between them, but they also bind together farm and city. This is the main important factor."

Referring to the western provinces, Dr. Tolmie said he had a great belief in their future, and he thought there was room enough for all industries.

Canadian Wheat Board Demands Return From All Licensees.

Winnipeg.—A new regulation, No. 143, of the Canadian wheat board, orders that all licensees of the board other than milling licensees must file with the board sworn statements of their stocks of wheat by midnight July 31.

The regulation also provides that licensees must make delivery to the board of all wheat purchased by them as licensees of the board on or before August 15, in store at public terminal elevators located at Fort William or Port Arthur, and on production of the proper documents of title, the board will pay, or cause to be paid, the cash payment fixed by other regulations of the board.

Find Amber Deposit

Prospector Reports a Rich Discovery in Manitoba.

The Pas, Man.—With a gunny sack full of pure amber, Jack Murray, former editor of the Canadian Mining Journal, has returned from Cedar Lake, 80 miles southwest of here, where he reports a plentiful supply of amber is scattered about the sand and the mud on the borders of the lake. He states that a canoe could be filled with it in less than an hour. The presence of amber at that place has been known for several years and until Murray examined it for New York and Toronto interests its value was unknown.

Col. J. B. Miller, of the Party Sound Lumber Company, and Major Craig, of Toronto, have left here for the amber fields.

Expert Issues A Warning

Present Methods of "Mining" Soil Will Soon Lead West to Disaster.

Winnipeg.—Warning against the "mining" of Canadian prairie lands by "get-rich-quick" settlers who take abundant crops for a few years without reforestation of the ground, was sounded at the conference here of the commission on conservation of soil.

"The fate of this nation depends chiefly on the fertility of its soil," declared Prof. Hanson, "and our soils are rapidly losing their basic strength in organic matter and nitrogen. We must seek immediately to correct this."

"One of the problems which confronts us is drifting lands, due to lack of soil. Land drifting is causing as much loss in some districts in the west as rust and insects."

He outlined the results of the preliminary experiments and tests being made in Manitoba to determine proper methods to prevent drifting. "While this work was far from completed, the result of the work already done," Prof. Hanson said, "led him to believe that the bromo grass was the easiest method of returning the fibre to the soil."

"Farming under irrigation has been practiced in all parts of Canada and the United States profitably and should be encouraged," he said. "Carelessness in cultural methods was asserted to be undoubtedly the greatest existing curse to agriculture in Canada," said Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture.

In his analysis of conditions of the Canadian prairies, Dr. Grisdale stated the causes for the gradually decreasing yield in bushels per acre from the cereal crops would appear to be: Prevalence of weeds, lack of fibre in soil, poor moisture retention and poor cultural methods employed by the farmers.

Among the remedies suggested were the introduction of certain hardy cultivated crops in some parts and quick maturing crops in other districts, together with better cultural methods to aid in weed control.

Will Greet Overseas Editors.

London.—The agenda for the empire press conference at Ottawa, August 5, 6 and 7, provides for addresses on the first day by the governor-general and premier and discussions on the empire press and the execution of an empire parcel post system.

Winnipeg.—The meetings of the commission of conservation in soil fertility and soil fibre which has been in session here were conducive of much profit. Western Canada's future agricultural welfare and advancement, which impelled the conference is expected to be largely dependent on the activities of a permanent committee on research appointed by the commission as the result of the two days' deliberations.

Prompted by the urging of soil and cultural experts from all parts of the Dominion, who discussed the needs of the west, and offered suggestions for betterment of soil conditions, the commission adopted a resolution at the final session which it was believed would result in carrying out the plans tentatively formulated.

The committee of experts which is to proceed under the auspices of the commission and with its support will continue and co-ordinate work which has been started on experimental farms; try out and compare methods of applying knowledge already possessed; seek other and new methods of benefit to the practical operation of farming; to obtain the best advantages."

This committee consists of J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada; Prof. John Bracken, principal of the Manitoba Agricultural College; W. G. McKilligan, superintendent of the Brandon experimental farm; Prof. E. S. Hoopes, of Olds Agricultural; W. H. Fairhead, superintendent of the Lethbridge experimental farm; Prof. G. H. Cutler, of the University of Alberta, and F. C. Nunglick, agricultural adviser of the commission on conservation, who was named secretary of the commission.

Prof. G. H. Cutler, Edmonton, in an address on "Choice of Crops and Soil Productivity," urged immediate reclamation of the land areas devastated through lack of proper fertilization. Improvement adopted in this connection in Canada was pointed out in an address by Dr. E. Newman, Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian Seed Grain Growers, who urged for immediate action.

"Canada," he said, "requires each spring about 10,000,000 bushels of wheat to sow and plant her fields."

Opium in Egg Case

Mounted Police Discover Avenue By Which Drug Was Being Shipped to West.

Ottawa.—The accidental discovery at Papeauville, Que., a few days ago by the Canadian express authorities of a quantity of opium which was consigned to Calgary, has furnished the Canadian mounted police with the avenue by which they believe quantities of this drug have been shipped to the west during the past few months. For some time past a Chinese restaurant keeper at Papeauville has been in the habit of consigning one, two or three cases of eggs at a time to a fellow celestial at Calgary. There had been no suspicion attached to the shipments until one day last week when one of the cases of eggs forming part of a shipment, was found to be leaking. The express company officials reported the broken case and when examined the case was found to contain opium.

In the meantime, the consignor apparently got wind that the jig was up for he has disappeared. The investigation is going on and the consinee is also being sought.

Tolmie, who will be sworn in by the clerk of the privy council on his return to Ottawa, as minister of agriculture. He is at present in Saskatchewan.

Hon. P. E. Blondin takes the same position that he held in the cabinet under the government of Sir Robert Borden.

Alberta to Have Three Normal Schools

With the opening of the fall term on August 24th next, Alberta will have three teacher training institutions. The Edmonton Normal will hold its sessions in the Highgate school where the district course was given last winter. The other schools will be held in Camrose and Calgary as usual. This means that all parts of the Province will be well served with teacher training facilities for the session 1920-21.

Boundaries for the districts to be served by the schools have been set as follows:

(1) Edmonton: The City of Edmonton and all territory north and west of the North Saskatchewan River.
(2) Camrose: All territory south of the North Saskatchewan River as far as the southern boundary of Township 27.
(3) Calgary: From the northern boundary of Township 26 to the international boundary.

It is expected that the results of the Departmental Examinations in Grades XI and XII will be available by the first of August. Prospective students are urged to forward applications for admission at an early date.

The loan policy of the department inaugurated last year made it possible for more than one hundred additional teachers to take Normal training. This policy will be continued during the present year so that no qualified person need be deterred from securing a teacher's certificate through lack of funds.

All the Normal Schools will open on August 24th next and continue until April 15th, 1921. This will give opportunity for a school year of thirty-three weeks and at the same time allow the teachers to get into the schools early in the year. A large number of young people have already intimated their intention of taking this course and it is expected that all these schools will be filled.

The Salvation Army
Central European Fund

An appeal is being made in the pages of the Army's newspaper "The War Cry," on behalf of the suffering people in Central Europe. We herewith reprint the same:

The Commissioner has received a pressing appeal from International Headquarters, London, on behalf of the thousands of starving children of Central Europe, and in view of this a public appeal is being launched throughout Canada West for funds.

Previous reference has been made to the way in which The Salvation Army is helping to relieve the sufferings of the starving babies of Central Europe. It is, therefore, called to mind that immediately on hearing of the tragic town of Calcutta, the conditions prevailing, the General set on foot a scheme of relief, and dispatched officers with money to purchase and distribute milk and other necessities to the distressed.

The news just in hand shows how urgent was the need of the Army's timely aid, and how pressing is the call for the extension of this work.

Lieut. Colonel Brown, who, with other officers, is in Berlin, writes saying that although nearly twelve thousand tons of milk are being distributed weekly for children under nine years of age, only the fringe of the requirement is being met, and he adds that $100,000 weekly could be spent in distributing necessities to children who are suffering with rickets and threatened with consumption.

Government officials greatly appreciate what the Army is doing, and have granted free transportation for supplies and officers engaged on this work.

To ensure a fair distribution, each child is selected for a supply of milk by the school doctor, or on the recommendation of the district medical officer if the child is too young to attend school. In order to provide relief for some at least of the starving population of Central Europe, the General has undertaken to provide temporary homes in Great Britain for five hundred children.

True appeal is now made to War Cry readers to assist the General in carrying out this compassionate undertaking by offering free hospitality for six months to boys from five to eleven and girls from five to thirteen years of age. Travelling and clothing expenses will be paid, and every child arriving in the country will be the bearer of a medical certificate that he or she is free from disease.

Each people have an idea of the suffering that is being endured by innocent children on the European continent as a result of insufficient feeding, spread over a long period. Among the number are the little sons and daughters of Salvationists and Salvation Army officers, concerning whom pathetic stories are told.

We understand a subscription list has already been opened by a donation from the Salvation Army headquarters staff Winnipeg, of $100.00. The soldiers and friends of Coleman Corps have also started a list by a collection amounting to nearly $65.00 and if friends of the Army in the Pass would like to increase this sum before the list is closed, the officers of Coleman (402-223) will be very pleased to receive their donation, which will be immediately dispatched to the proper quarter.

To-day's Farmer

When you look at today's farmer you can't help marvel at the wonderful progress we've made in the last twenty years," said Ted Hinkley, as he got his money back on a pair of hole-proof socks he'd only worn six months.

"The farmer that used to drive to town once a week to get a state newspaper, newspaper now knows everything that happens in Central Europe. We herewith reprint the same:

"He knows what Senator Hiram Johnson said yesterday an' he knows where Bryan talks tonight.

"It used to be impossible to look after a forty-acre farm an' keep track of who was president."

"A farmer used to be out in the woods splittin' rails without knowin' whether the government at Washington still lived or not.

"Nowadays a farmer kin plow along behind a tractor, an' throw his tractor into neutral an' hop in a trolley car an' go to the city."

"A farmer used to get a chocolate egg an' be conditions prevailing, the General set

Wise and Foolish Unions

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, in convention at Boston assembled, adopted as a policy the principle of standards. By standards is meant the fixing of output which the worker must come up to.

There was acrimonious discussion, blacking and sabotege had their advocates, but the president, Sidney Hillman, summed up the case for the union against the proposals, and he spoke in the union's interest exclusively. He said:

"The industry must maintain and safeguard the worker. The worker must maintain and safeguard the industry. We expect that labor will come into its own in industry. We cannot wreck the house in which we expect to live. We cannot wreck it, even if we want to wreck it. We cannot in the end defeat the industry. By that route we can in the end only defeat ourselves. . . . This decision, which we are now about to make is a decision of the very life of the Amalgamated and of its future. We have to be for the industry, for law and order in the industry, for science in the industry. We have to decide now whether the Amalgamated will be a progressive force in the industry, and grow or be checked by its own self here."

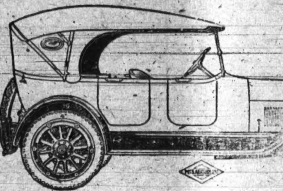

The Amalgamated resolved decisively not to check itself. It decided for action and against destruction, for growth instead of obstruction, for the industry and not industry's disintegration. Labor may have it in its power to pull down the temple of society, but the pulling down will be upon labor's own head as well as other heads; whereas constructive policy, the development of the industry, its good, comports with labor's hope and ambition to "come into its own," whatever that may be.

Other unions, not so wise, not so skillfully led, do check themselves. The Chicago building trades have been doing just that. Insisting upon the highest wages in the land, they have attracted to Chicago skilled and unskilled labor from everywhere, so that the job is now being competed for, whereas the job some weeks ago was competing for the laborer. Insisting upon preposterous pay then slacking on the job, the carpenters and their fellows have lessened building activities. As one commentator put the case: "High wage plus diminished output by the worker have shot labor costs to a point where building activities are still being diminished. Today, skilled building trades artisans in Chicago are looking for jobs. The successful unions like that of the clothing workers, precise political economy, know that there is

Sea Farming

An acre of water will produce more human food than an acre of land, according to experts in food production. A fertile bay, if intelligently farmed, has more power of sustenance than the fields about it. Farmers of the sea, as the world shortage of food increases, will become more and more a necessity in our scheme of living.

On plankton depends ultimately the food productivity of the ocean, says Ellis L. Michael of the Scripps Institute for Biological Research of California. Plankton is composed of cyclical microscopic lives: first, diatoms, one called plants reproductive at an approximate rate of 1,000,000,000 a month; second, minute herbivorous animals that feed on diatoms; third, invisible carnivores that eat the herbivorous animals. It is the usual order that nature has worked out in this case microscopically. This is the plankton, the "meadows" of the sea.

The Atlantic is the most fertile ocean off our coasts. Its meadows are richer than those of the Pacific and can sustain more life. But the potentialities of either the Pacific or the Atlantic are enormous. Men will return for sustenance to the sea, the great engenderer of life, after their continental excursions.

In the practice of sea farming the Chinese have both more experience and more skill than have the occidental peoples. Westerners raid the sea and bring forth food, but they have not learned to compensate for the life withdrawn. The scientific management of the sea is particularly our need. China restores in a measure what she takes away. China is conservative.

But the sea itself is the great conservator. The changes, changing seas, the vast throbs of its life cycles, will dominate the world when continental precocities have lost all definition.—Chicago News.

CHAPTER VI.

A big man, past middle age, and seated astride a small white horse, came picking his way between the huge beech and maple trees, down through the quiet morning of the woods. He had shaggy red brows, and a big mouth that drooped at the corners. The little, bushy side ways in search of the blaze on the trees, were sharp and calculating. Where the ridge sloped to the valley he reigned up.

"Must be somewhere about here," he mused aloud. "Don't know how I can miss seeing McTavish if he happens to be outside—land knows he's big enough to see—hello who are you?"

"Something animated in the shape of a boy had stirred from a log directly in the path. Leaping out it stood before the rider—a boy with long yellow curls and big brown eyes. The old white horse shied, and the boy roared backwards and forwards on the path, voicing low, plaintive sounds. As the rider was checked, a small animal crept from the thicket and climbed upon the lad's shoulder. The horse reared, and the boy, lifting his brown arms, began to wave them to and fro. At the same time he broke into a wild, tuneless chant, the words of which were unintelligible to the wondering observer. It was a shrill, weird note, fluted and varying like the call of a panther. Suddenly boy and animal vanished as though the Wild had reached forward and gathered them into its arms.

"Heavens!" shuddered the man, and struck the horse sharply with his spurs. Where the trail curved off abruptly to the valley he reined up once more and turning about, looked back.

"Well, I'll be ho!" he soliloquized. "No matter where you find the Creator's handiwork and beauty you'll find His imperfections too. Ugh! how those big eyes did probe me! It's enough to make a saint shiver, let alone a chap who has climbed up on a I have—not caring who I've trampled on."

He shivered again, and felt in his pocket for his pipe. His hand brought forth a yellow wallet. A hard smile warped his mouth as he opened the wallet and drew out a small photograph. It was the likeness of a young woman with sweet face and great eyes. He tapped the likeness and a lock of brown hair leaped out like a snake and twined about his finger. He brushed it back with a shudder, and, snapping the case, put it back in his pocket.

"I'll find that big McTavish and get this deal closed," he mused as he rode along.

The horse stumbled and a grouse whizzed along the trail, passing close to the man's head, with a thundering nerve-wrecking sound. He sat erect and sank his spurs into the old gray's heaving flank.

"Get up, you lazy old bag of bones," he commanded. "Let's find that big innocent and get hold of his deed. We'll give him a dollar or so to see us back along that lonesome trail. I wouldn't go back along that spooky path for all of old Hallibut's money. I've seen enough snakes and wolves and bears since two o'clock this morning to last me a lifetime. And that last animal—that crazy boy—ugh!"

He slashed the old mare into a faster walk and sat hunched up and pondering until a twist in the path brought an open glade into view. The buzz of a saw and the pant of a weary engine came to his ears like welcome music.

"Totheride," he chuckled. "Let's see, Bushwhackers' Place lies just across from it. But there's the Snake. Guess I'll have to ride down to the narrows."

Finally, with much grumbling, he reached the farther side of the creek, and, pulling in his horse, he gazed about him.

"Ha, look at that for timber!" he exulted. "And to think that Smythe and I will have control—"

He did not finish the sentence aloud but sat nodding his head up and down. Very soon he drew up before the long log-house. Big McTavish stepped out and pointed to a log-building in a grove of buttresses.

"Put your horse in there," he invited.

"I will, and more," agreed the arrival. "I'll enjoy a bit of bread and a slice of dried venison or anything else your larder affords. I'm hungry as old Nick."

"You're welcome to the best we have," replied McTavish. "You're Mr. Watson, I suppose. Am I right?"

"That's right. I am Robert W. O. Watson, that's me. I'm pretty well known through these parts; that is to say, better maybe a little east of here. This place is kind of off the map, you know. Just give the lazy snake anything that's handy," he growled, referring to the patient steed that stood with drooping head and sanctimonious air, "but you needn't be in any hurry to feed him. See! Smythe's horse and used to waiting."

"I always see that my oxen get their meals same as I do," said big McTavish. "I wouldn't feed just like eatin' unless they had their fodder, too. Well, stay inside and I'll have Glass fix you up a meal. She's down at the spring now gettin' the cream ready for the churnin', but she'll be back direct."

As they crossed from the stable a small form flitted by them and vanished among the trees. Watson gasped and he clutched McTavish's arm.

"That's him," he cried, "that's the gray boy I met a couple of miles away. How did he get here so soon do you suppose?"

"Oh that's Daft Dave," smiled McTavish. "Nobody knows exactly when he'll turn up. He runs like a deer and is as shy as the wild things he plays among."

"Plays among," repeated the other. He followed McTavish into the house and sat down heavily on a stool.

"What do you mean by plays among?"

"I mean that he moves among the wild things and they are not scared of him same as they are of you or me or anybody else. They say that he can fondle the cubs of bears and wolf-kittens. I've seen him play in with a big snake myself—not a poisonous one, of course. Seems as though Dave can pick out the things that are harmless quick enough. Nobody says any more to him much in Bushwhackers' Place, but I say him to himself, 'knowin' that God'll protect the soul. He didn't give over much reasonin' power to."

"Humph," granted the other, "I see you're a pious man, McTavish. Pious, God-fearing and honest. Good plan to work along that line. Had a good bringing up myself. Mother's prayers, early teaching, and that sort of thing have a lot to do with making a big man. My mother is largely responsible for my success. She's dead now, poor old lady. Of course, a fellow who climbs has a right to some of the credit himself, I suppose. Made up your mind, I can see, to swap this forsaken wilderness for a piece of cultivated land," he said, abruptly opening the subject nearest his heart and fixing on the big man his little pig-eyes.

The Married Teacher

No Reason For Prejudice Against Employment of Married Women

It should have been needless, but it was probably wise for the Carnegie Foundation, by the report of a distinguished committee of educators, to denounce in strong terms the remaining prejudice against the employment of married women as teachers.

Says the committee: "There is probably no work in which marriage and a normal home life could contribute a qualification more essential than they could to teaching." The woman teacher is too often a "detached public servant in a class apart. If married and a householder having children, she becomes a vitally interested and respected factor in society."

A part of the old prejudice against married teachers took root in the silly cry: "Let them stay at home, and give the girls a chance." Such sacrifice of the skilled veteran to the beginner was unwise at any time. It is simply ridiculous now, when hundreds of thousands of children have no teachers at all, and other hundreds demand the inefficient substitutes. Yet in how many cities as in New York, are there traces of the old feeling even in the formal rules of Boards of Education—New York City.

America had no wheat prior to 1530 when the Spaniards introduced the grain in this hemisphere.

War Criminals

Germany Does Not Give Much Indication of Keeping Faith With Allies

The second subject taken up at the Spa conference does not require much time. Germany herself suggested the Leipzig tribunal for the trial of Germans accused of war crimes.

There is a striking departure from the original idea that the perpetrators of outrages should be handed over to courts in Allied countries. France took less interest in the punishment of war criminals than she did in the matter of disarmament and reparations, but the British Premier made a strong point of it in the Paris conference and in his speeches in England.

The Leipzig plan seemed to many an abandonment of the whole case, but it would at least show whether Germany of today approved the methods of the Empire, and the former rulers and officers. In accordance with the program Britain and France sent forward a list of accused persons including some officers in high command in the army and navy, certain subordinate officers, officials who had control in occupied districts in France and Belgium, and commanders of German prisons. Particulars seem to have been furnished in at least forty cases.

The German minister of justice states that none of the accused have been arrested. He gives various reasons, none of which seem to be good, except that some of the alleged criminals are dead. No doubt it is true that some have left the country, and no doubt others will follow if they are warned that the case is likely to be prosecuted seriously. Mr. Lloyd George with characteristic bluntness, remarked that the Germans were breaking their word in regard to this Leipzig plan proposed by themselves. The plausible and adroit foreign minister replies with strong assurance which the Allies pretend to accept.

We do not suppose that anybody expects these prosecutions to come to much, but the manner in which they are conducted or abandoned will be an excellent test of the present-day faith of Germany—Vancouver Province.

Honor Roll of Farmers

Saskatchewan Grain Growers Will Commemorate Their Sacrifice in Great War

(From the Toronto Globe) Five hundred and sixty-acre young farmer members of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association—all of whom volunteered for service in the Great War—were "killed in action."

In a unique and fitting manner the executive of the association proposes to commemorate their service and sacrifice.

After some months of deliberation, during which several proposed forms of memorial have been under consideration, the executive has decided to adopt the pictorial Honor Roll submitted by James Henderson, of Fort Qu'Appelle, a western artist of considerable note. This Honor Roll will take the form of a remarkable painting comprising a series of pictures which tell in chronological order the story of the war. The first represents Britannia with her trumpet calling her sons to arms. The second shows Jack Canuck hurriedly leaving his sheaves in the harvest field as the call comes to him. The third reveals him on the British transport en route to the fighting front, while the fourth exhibits him in action, "going over the top" into No Man's Land. The fifth and sixth scenes are linked. One picture "the rows upon rows," the hallowed graves in Flanders' Fields; the other the news of final victory received by Canadian homes. In the centre of the picture is a scroll upon which the names of five hundred and sixty-seven members of the association who gave their lives for their country are inscribed. The painting will be over four feet high and some ten feet in length. It is to be hung on the east wall of the central hall of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, on the upper floor of the Farmers' Building in Saskatoon.

The service of the gallant young farmers who sleep yonder near the fields of their glory does not end with death. Today, tomorrow, and in years to come, when the pharisees of the Canadian West open their arms to the Canadian citizenry, the thrilling story of their patriotism and achievement, looking down from the walls where grain growers assemble, must prove an impetus and an inspiration to those who come after.

The Value of Trees

One Square Yard of Leaf Surface Purifies Great Amount of Air

It has been calculated that a single tree is able through its leaves to purify the air from the carbonic acid arising from the respiration of a considerable number of men, perhaps a dozen, or even more. The volume of carbonic acid exhaled by a human being in the course of twenty-four hours is put at about 100 gallons, but scientists estimate that a single square yard of leaf surface, counting both the upper and the under sides of the leaves, can, under favorable circumstances, decompose at least a gallon of carbonic acid in a day. One hundred square yards of leaf surface then would suffice to keep the air pure for one man, but the leaves of a tree of moderate size present a surface of many hundred square yards. All other forms of vegetable life act similarly in abstracting the noxious carbonic acid from the atmosphere.

Some amendments, which consideration of the Act during the last year showed to be necessary, were made at the session just prorogued. The rules, which contain very important provisions respecting the carrying out of the Act, have recently been passed by the Governor-General-in-Council.

Frank Sanatorium Notes

Wednesday, July 14th, was a red-letter day in the lives of the patients of this institution, the event being a most enjoyable picnic arranged by Mrs. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and other kind ladies and gentlemen of Coleman. The staff and patients were conveyed by automobiles to Star Creek, just west of Coleman, where the afternoon was spent among the cool woods and lovely scenery along the stream. Refreshments were served during the evening, and the most enjoyable day was brought to a conclusion by a motor trip to Crows' Nest Lake. The staff and patients are very much indebted to their kind and generous friends of Coleman for an extremely pleasant outing.

We take this opportunity of extending a word of warning to those members of our staff who have only recently joined us and enjoy an evening stroll along the cool paths across the river from the San. Somewhere among those rocks and bushes dwells an interesting specimen of the Felidae tribe—a very large and ferocious lynx. It is true that at this time of the year the lynx is not generally to be feared, but if we are to rely on the evidence of the many patients who have positively seen it at various times this summer, this particular animal has increased in size and in ferocity of appearance at a most alarming and unbelievable rate in the past three months, which would indicate its possession of a voracious appetite. It behooves one, therefore, to be strictly on one's guard and to take no reckless chances.

Next week we hope to announce the results of the billiard tournament, just commenced and now raging. This event shows signs of being a keenly-contested affair and the boys are agog with excitement.
